DAILY READINGS

"God proves his love for us
in that while we were still sinners Christ died for us."

Romans 5:8

January 2019

Dear Friend,

As I write this brief letter we are on the countdown to the celebration of Christmas, and approach the start of yet another New Year.

We stand, therefore, on the threshold of something new. January brings with it, not only a change in the calendar, but also a whole raft of hopes and fears, as well as worries and expectations.

We also stand on another threshold. For the time has come for me to move on and minister in a different place and among different people. This will, obviously, bring changes for us all, and those changes come with a mixture of emotions.

There is sadness for that which is coming to an end. There is expectation for that which is beginning. There is worry and concern for what might come next. And there may be fear about what change might mean.

We stand, therefore, on many thresholds. They are there before us, and we must cross them. Yet, as we do so we can, each and every one of us, trust that God will be with us.

The hymn writer, Timothy Dudley-Smith, speaks of this in one of his hymns:

*Here on the threshold of a new beginning,
by grace forgiven, now we leave behind
our-long repented selfishness and sinning,
and all our blessings call again to mind:
Christ to redeem us, ransom and restore us,
the love that holds us in a Saviour's care,
faith strong to welcome all that lies before us,
our unknown future, knowing God is there.*

In His name, Martyn
