READINGS

JUNE 2012

Dear Friend,

This month we complete the history of the Kings as we continue to delve deeper into the writings of the prophets. Having already read Jonah, we now turn to Hosea, Amos, Micah, and Zephaniah, before starting to read Jeremiah at the end of the month.

At this point we skip the books of Chronicles as, by and large, they repeat the stories of the books of Kings. We will come back to Chronicles in due course.

As we have read through the histories of Israel and Judah, I have tried to introduce other writings in a position that reflects their timing, although this is a difficult thing to do entirely accurately. In doing so I have also omitted other books, most notably that of Isaiah. As with any of the books or passages that we have not yet read, we will turn our attention to them in days to come.

This month we also continue with our pause in New Testament readings and read through a number of Psalms in their place.

In His name
Martyn
