NOVEMBER 2012

Dear Friend,

For almost a century November has been the month of remembrance, as we are called to remember those people who have laid down their lives in the defence of liberty and freedom.

By the end of the month, in our chronological reading of the life of Jesus, we find that we have journeyed all the way to Golgotha—that place where we look upon, and remember, what our Lord Jesus went through for us. In that sacrifice, we see the beauty and wonder of God's love, and we also glimpse something of the freedom that He offers to us.

Meanwhile, our Old Testament journey continues through the book of Ezekiel.

May you remember with gladness those who have gone before; may you also remember with thanksgiving the sacrifice of brave people; and may you always rejoice in the freedom that is offered to you through the sacrifice of Jesus

In His name
Martyn
